Please note CCAI does not officially endorse any of the above companies, as none are formally associated with CCAI. Instead, the list above is comprised of the most popular courier option in each Consular Zone according to previous CCAI families. Further research may provide other options for courier services in each Zone.

Also, please note that walk-in service (either with a courier or by yourself) does NOT produce same-day visas. The usual processing time for a China visa for US citizens is approximately ten working days (and allow time for mailing your passport to and from the courier).

Applicants will need to fill out the visa application form to be submitted online; in addition, the application will be submitted in person at the respective Embassy or Consulate.

Please contact the courier for more information about this.
